— FALL —

Autumn At DHS

This year's fall events got off to quite a start with the appearance of the rock group The Kind at DHS due to the remarkable efforts of the Student Council. Judging by the numerous t-shirts and pins worn by the students the following day, the concert was a definite success.

November marked Drug Free Youth nationwide, and DHS was ready to celebrate. The arrival David Toma caused a great deal of emotional response among students to a rousing anti-drug presentation. To take advantage of student enthusiasm for Toma's cause, a "Celebration" was held. The dance featured three local bands, a WBBM-FM disk jocky, dance contests, and challenges between the classes. Admission included the donation of a can of food. These cans were collected and then donated to "The Pantry" in Highland Park. Over five hundred students attended "Celebration," making it one of the best attended school dances in a long time. The enormous enthusiasm shown by the students in Drug Free Youth month provided a fitting end to a season of excitement.

Stunts — A Barrel Of Fun

Stunts, the DHS student variety show, was a wild hit this year. Humor was one important aspect of the show. Acts such as Jennie Lipowich's "Love of My Life," Julie Benton's "Masochism Tango," and "Pageant" (the senior guys' act) brought forth streams of uproarious laughter. "I laughed so much I had tears pouring out of my eyes," said senior Stacy Smith.

The great music in Stunts added a lot to the show. Students became so involved with the music of the two bands, Blue Moon and Fallout, that they clapped along with them. The colorful dance troupe was also very entertaining.

The participants, along with the audience, had a great time at Stunts '83. "Being in the senior girls' kickline was a lot of fun," said Dawn LaBuda. "I never knew what being on stage was like!" Julie Lewis added, "Stunts this year was a terrific experience. The show was a lot of fun to do, and I had the chance to meet many new people."

Stunts has always been an enjoyable experience for both audience and participants. Stunts '83 certainly kept this tradition alive.

Warriors Ready To Win

This year's Homecoming activities began with the annual Powderpuff Football Game on Wednesday, October 12. The game was played well by both juniors and seniors, but the seniors skillfully defeated the juniors in the end.

The festivities continued later on in the week, with the Pep Rally on Friday night. The Cheerleaders and Pom Pon Squad did their famous routines, and everyone yelled until they lost their voices. Naturally, the seniors won the Spirit Jug with their "Senior Showdown" theme! The winners of the Homecoming Window Painting Contest were announced: seniors Leda Trachtenberg, Bob Yoest, and Rachana Sastry. Gail Heyman said, "The first place window was spectacular! It was obvious a lot of hard work was put into it."

On Saturday morning, the Football Players, Cheerleaders, Pom Pon Squad, Marching Band, and Flag Corps marched through Deerfield. Class floats were judged before the parade, and the first place prize was awarded to the junior class.

After the spellbinding victory over the Waukegan East Bulldogs, couples celebrated by going to the Homecoming Dance on Saturday night.

DHS Traditions Upheld

Warriorfest was a huge success this year. Carrying on the annual tradition, all three levels of the football team came out ahead of the Waukegan East Bulldogs. The Varsity Warriors concluded the afternoon with a 35 to 20 victory over the Bulldogs.

After the game, students hurried home to get ready for the Homecoming dance, "A Step Through Time." The dance was held in the student cafeteria and the music was provided by the group Soft Touch. The band played both slow and fast music, which gave the more creative dancers a chance to show off their skills. Following the dance, many couples patronized local restaurants or just went to the houses of friends.

Another important element of Homecoming weekend was the Homecoming court. Homecoming attendants were as follows: freshman — Alyssa Winter and Larry Finer, sophomore — Stacy Flanders and Jamie Becchetti, junior — Karen Kamberg and Andy Solem, and senior — Jennie Lipowich and Dave Hetzel. This year's king and queen were Mark McAuliffe and Sara Cook. The high energy and spirit of Warriorfest '83 will long be remembered.

— WORK —

Feeding The Wallets

After the school bell rings at 3:24, Deerfield students find a variety of ways to pass the time. One type of student races home or to the library to "hit the books," but these students are definitely in the minority. Many other students are involved in extracurricular activities, while others go home to collapse until the next school day. Finally, there are the students who get home from school just in time to go to work.

There are many places where Deerfield students can be seen working. In Northbrook Court, for example, DHS students work in the courtyard restaurants, at the Gap, and in Kaybee Toys. In the Deerfield Commons, the cheerful faces of Deerfield students can be seen in Holly's Hallmark, Walgreen's and Jewel.

Most people hold jobs to earn some extra spending money or save for college. Some jobs also provide experience for future careers. A final great benefit of taking a part time job is making a lot of new friends. One working junior said, "Working has enabled me to save up for a new car. Even more importantly, however, it has given me a chance to meet many exciting people."

What's New In Deerfield

"What? You live in Deerfield? You're kidding, right? You don't really live in Deerfield. Do you?"

"Yes it's true. I live in Deerfield."

"Are we talking about the same Deerfield — the place with all the floods and the anti-drug groups?"

"Well, Deerfield is more than just natural disasters and a Toma hangout. There's much more you probably never even heard about."

"Like what?"

"Well, in addition to crusading against drugs, Deerfield citizens can also eat at one of the city's many fine restaurants like the Pie House, Harry's, Belden's Deli, and there is even a new and improved bakery there."

"How about shopping? Are there any stores in that fascinating town you live in?"

"It's interesting that you brought that up. Deerfield's own Cadwell's Corners Shopping Center was just built."

"How about entertainment? What can you do in Deerfield?"

"Well, you can always watch cable TV. And there's always the obvious . . ."

"And what's that?"

"Anti-drug campaigning, silly."

— FADS —
Trends At DHS

New fads and fashions hit DHS like a storm this year with the increasing popularity of punk. Punk hairstyles were seen all around Deerfield, and it was no longer rare to see guys with a pierced ear or two.

Another phenomenon to hit DHS was the absolutely adorable Cabbage Patch Doll. Almost every student dreamed of owning his or her very own Cabage Patch Kid with a shrivelled plastic face. Along with these dolls, the new cordless space phones were high up on holiday lists.

The party game of the year could only be Trivial Pursuits. DHS students were naturally great players thanks to their great knowledge and comprehension of trivial matters.

The last fad to hit DHS was video rock. Seeing favorite songs creatively put on the T.V. screen was an exciting way to experience music. The music of Michael Jackson, the Police, Culture Club, and David Bowie were all big hits this year.

Even though hopeless preps and Air Supply fans could still be found roaming the halls, DHS was right in step with the latest fashions.

Head Over Heels

"Maniac!" "Going Bananas!" "Thriller!" These numbers and more made the 1983 gymnastic show, Under the Big Top, more fun than a three ring circus.

This year's circus theme involved gymnastic monkeys, tigers, lions, horses, flame throwers, and pink elephants. Even the janitors got in on the act, having been struck by the "Boogie Fever" of the circus!

The gymnasts had two months of long hard practices in preparation for the event. One sophomore gymnast said, "It sure wasn't easy, but I think that all of our energy and hard work really paid off." A few of the 27 acts in the show were "Taking a Chance," which featured eight girls on tightropes (balance beams) doing courageous and daring tricks, "You Can Do Magic," a rhythmic gymnastics routine with hoops, balls, and ribbons, and the "Dance of the Tumblers," starring girls vaulting over horses.

With the help of ringmaster Scott Weisman and sponsor Carol Myers, this year's show was a big hit. After the show, the gymnasts held a flip-flop-a-thon, which was a lot of fun and also raised money for a new gymnastics mat.

World Come To DHS

On February 10th, sheltered DHS students got to have their yearly experience with other cultures at Ethnocenter. This custom was initiated by Randall Schultz and John Vacek in 1977. The two men were downtown visiting Mayor Daley's ethnic folk festival when an inspiration hit them. They decided that it would be good to have an ethnic celebration at DHS to fill the "mid-winter void." Ethnocenter, as it is called, has since become a popular tradition, with about one hundred students participating this year.

This year, "real weird" exhibits were kept to a minimum in order to help keep Ethnocenter justifiable from an educational standpoint. This did not, however, prevent students from experiencing a huge range of cultures — from Lithuania to Ecuador to Indonesia, and of course most of Europe. Randall Schultz commented, "Ethnocenter allows students to be introduced to all kinds of backgrounds. It is an all-around good time in a cultural setting." Colleen Piersen, representing Russia at Ethnocenter, laughingly added, "There's so much that we share, so it's time we're aware, it's a small world after all."

Actors Go Welsh

This year's drama season opened with a challenging play, Under Milkwood. Joel Johnson, a new director, made the play a memorable experience with the help of sixteen fine cast members and an able crew.

Under Milkwood is a play written by the Welsh poet, Dylan Thomas. It is the story of one day in a small town in Wales. It involves the lives of very simple, ordinary people.

The play's complexity resulted from the great number of characters portrayed. Besides the three narrative voices, there were over forty characters, making it necessary for each actor to play three or four different roles.

A problem with the play was that much of the audience was confused by Thomas' poetic style and had trouble following along. "It was a difficult play for everyone," admitted Linda Basevitz, senior and cast member. "But," she added, "the production of Under Milkwood was a rewarding experience for everyone involved." Another cast member, junior Eric Morris, said, "I believe the play was successful because it provided new insight into the meaning of life.

Let's Go Dancin'

After months of hard work and preparation, the twenty-four girls in Dance Club put on one of the best shows ever. "Let's Go Dancin'" included a variety of numbers incorporating jazz, modern, ballet, and tap. Also included was a Rock Through the Ages with the jitterbug, the twist, and disco. All of the dances were choreographed and performed by club members. Special appearances by Ross Brown and certain senior guys added originality to the show. Audience member Cheryl Moeller commented, "The dancers were fantastic! I really loved the David Toma imitation. Ross Brown was unforgettable. I'm ready glad I saw the show." The girls began rehearsing in October and devoted their after-school hours to practicing. President Jill Rudolph said, "This is the most prepared we've ever been for a show." According to the members, the long hours were well worth it. Audra Zuckerman stated, "The two nights on stage made all the time and effort worthwhile. This year's show was the most fun and the most satisfying." All in all, Dance Club Show '84 was a lot of fun for everyone involved.

Girls Do Asking

This year's Turnabout dance, "Spring in the Orient," was held on March third in the cafeteria. The annual Turnabout, sponsored by Gima, gives girls the opportunity to build up their courage in order to ask their favorite guys out for an evening of dancing and dinner. Included in this year's oriental atmosphere were many decorations, fortune cookies, and Oriental fans for each couple as a souvenir of the evening. One student remarked, "I really loved the dance, but was disappointed to find my fan smashed and ripped as I went to pick it up."

Prior to the dance, couples voted for Turnabout King and Queen. The nominees for this honor were selected by GIMA with the qualification of involvement in one or more sports. This year's King was Todd Lanscioni and the Queen was Claudia Casey.

With all of the colorful decorations, dressy clothes, great music and high spirits, Turnabout '84 could not have been anything but a huge success! Gail Heyman said, "Turnabout this year was an experience I won't soon be forgetting."

—LIFE—
Is A Cabaret

Deerfield High School was hit by a wave of color and fun with the arrival of this year's spring musical, "Cabaret." The musical, presented by the Fine Arts Department, was a challenge to perform especially because of a number of subplots intertwined with one another. Cliff Bradshaw, played by Scott Marovitz, was a young American visiting Berlin. In the show, Bradshaw eventually met up with a mysterious seductive woman by the name of Sally Bowles, portrayed by Julie Benton. Bradshaw rented his apartment from Frau Schneider (played by Susan Bass), who was being courted by the sweet, old Herr Schultz (Mike Lazar). Finally, Bradshaw was used by a black market smuggler named Ernst (Dean Feldman).

Along with all of the different soap opera type subplots of the musical were difficult song and dance routines centering around the Kit-Kat girls and the emcee (played by Vicki Mishoulam).

The performers all did a great job combining their talents to pull together the complex aspects of the musical in order to produce a terrific show. Julie Benton commented, "Cabaret was a taste of everything."

ACADEMICS

Math: Challenge

Mathematics at DHS this year was a trial for some and a triumph for others. Students struggled with everything from freshman Algebra to senior Calculus. Whether problems involved the quadratic formula, the Pythagorean theorem, differential equations, or some other mysterious identity, DHS students tackled them with grim determination. Enrollment in computer courses rose, and computers were integrated more heavily into math programs as teaching aids. The Math Resource Center was staffed throughout the day by math teachers anxious to unconfuse conscientious students. All in all, DHS students found themselves learning mathematics — whether they wanted to or not!

Science: Discovery

Although the mention of a double lab period evokes groans from most students, the twenty science courses offered at DHS are fairly popular. In the classroom, students study the process of cellular respiration, rules for balancing chemical equations, and the laws of conservation. In the lab, they learn about fruit fly genetics, the strength of hydrochloric acid, and projectile motion. "Labs are fun," commented one sophomore, "until you have to clean up your station. The combination of lab and book work helps make science classes more enjoyable." From Physics to Psychology, students learn about subjects which are of immediate interest to them.

Social Studies

The DHS Social Studies Department has always made an effort to keep up with the times. The addition of Great Decisions to the curriculum was a step in this direction. In this course, students discussed world problems and proposed solutions Political Science classes carefully analyzed the American system of government. Films, debates, and presentations were used as test supplements in all classes. Field trips also played an enjoyable role. Economics students spent a day at the Chicago Mercantile Exchange while Western Civ. classes saw the Vatican exhibit at the Art Institute. All these activities taught students to appreciate history, both past and present.

BELOW: Brian Hoffman's sunglasses aid in map placement.

Languages: Bravo

"Comment allez-vous?" "Wie geht es ihnen?" "¿Como está usted?" you can't understand at least one of these phrases, chances are that you are depriving yourself of an integral part of your education.

French, German, and Spanish classes at DHS attempt to "induct" students into the different cultures of the countries. Beginning with grammar and essential vocabulary, students at DHS can attain near fluency by fourth year. Throughout their study, students are exposed to tapes, readings, discussions, food, films, and, when possible, native speakers and outings.

Knowledge of a foreign language can be useful in both travel and business. So brush up on those "bonjours!"

PE: Fitness

The Physical Education Department at DHS isn't the same old one-two-three. Most students are able to choose which class they'd like to take. One of the exciting opportunities is Outdoor Education, a class which offers weekend activities and teaches students camping, canoeing, and rockclimbing. In the "Early-Bird" course before school, seniors can select their own activities. This class enables many students to get out of school earlier. Adaptive PE allows physically restricted students to get their daily workouts. The gym leaders program, with training in the junior year, lets seniors help out in underclass PE classes. In any case, PE classes provide a much-needed break from the academic grind.

Driving: Cruise

Sixteen is the age of independence. For most sophomores and juniors, this means Driver's Education, licenses, and "wheels."

Traffic Safety involves various activities. In the simulator, students watch movies and take control of the wheel in simulated situations. Range periods are spent puttering around the back lot, perfecting three-point turns, and maneuvering into parking spaces. On the road, students start out on side streets and gradually work up to an excursion on the highway.

Although some students feel insulted by the repetition in Traffic Safety, they realize the importance of learning good driving.

Fine Arts: Create

Even students who do not consider themselves artsy seem to enjoy courses in the Fine Arts Department. Some acting-hopefuls test their stage skills in drama courses, while other performers take Dance. In this course, units include jazz, modern, and classical ballet. Students learn how to execute tendus, ronds de jambes, and grands battements, even if they cannot pronounce the names of these movements. Art students work in a great variety of media: watercolors, charcoal, acrylics, clay, and collage. They learn to appreciate perspective, space, texture, and shading. Photography produces many shutter bugs. Clearly, fine arts classes allow students to develop their creativity.

English: Variety

The days of only reading and writing in the DHS English Department are gone. Now students know a great deal about poetry, different writing styles, oratory, and drama. Starting freshman year, students are exposed to all types of short stories, novels, and plays. Knowledge in these areas is built upon during sophomore year with the study of myths, epic poems, Shakespearean tragedy, and Speech or Persuasion and Debate. In junior year, students master the dreaded term paper. Senior classes are specifically designed to prepare students for college level work. Enrichment courses in the English Department include Journalism, Creative Writing, and Etymology.

Applied Arts

What visitor to DHS hasn't wondered why there are swings in the west courtyard and a playhouse in the main courtyard? Child Development is only one of the classes available in the Applied Arts Department. Course options range from Business Law to Fashion Merchandising to Woodworking. Subjects such as Data Processing and Auto Shop teach students marketable skills which could be useful to them after graduation. "Typing is the most useful class I've taken during my four years at DHS," commented senior Stacy Smith. No matter which applied arts class a student takes, he will find it beneficial.

Many students choose to earn more than the one semester of applied arts credit necessary to graduate.

LCAVC: Experience

Each morning and afternoon, DHS upperclassmen board a bus heading for LCAVC. These juniors and seniors are learning specialized skills at the Lake County Area Vocational Center. "It's a great opportunity to get ahead in the job market," exclaimed one cosmetologist-to-be. "By the time I graduate from high school, I'll already have my license." An enthusiastic auto mechanics student remarked, "Attending LCAVC is much more fun than being confined to DHS classrooms 300 minutes each day." Of course, LCAVC students still have to attend certain required classes at DHS. The addition of LCAVC to their curriculums gives them the chance to gain valuable experience in their chosen trades.

Frosh Advisory

The Advisory Program has become more successful each year in acquainting freshmen with DHS. It serves as a substitute homeroom and gives students the chance to make new friends. Self-discovery activities are scheduled to prepare students for upcoming decisions. Each freshman must complete a four-year plan, do a career search, and study job options. In working towards academic goals, freshmen are taught how to use the IMC and devlop positive study habits. Senior Advisors are an integral part of the Program; their advice and help with homework is invaluable to inexperienced freshmen. Thus, through the Freshman Advisory Program, students are able to benefit more fully from their years at DHS.

Guidance: Help

From the time a student enters DHS, he is bombarded by services from the Guidance Department. Counselors are always available to change schedules, answer questions about colleges, and inquire into unexplained absences from study halls. No problem is too small for them, providing a student has an arranged appointment. The College and Career Resource Center embarked on even more programs during the 1983-84 academic year. Each student now has a personal file in F105 in which information pertaining to his future is kept. This includes the results of college searches, career searches, interest surveys, and academic records. Thus, the Guidance Department met students' needs in a variety of ways.

Warriors Stumble Through Season

On the opening day of the 1983 high school football season, Deerfield confidently rolled over Public League foe, Sullivan, and erased the memories of the '82 playoff loss to Public League member Tilden. That game, however, turned out to be the team's most convincing victory. Inconsistency and serious injuries whittled away at the coaches' and players' efforts, but the final record of 6-3 was still something to be proud of.

It has been a long time since DHS has been plagued by such injuries. Dr. Dominic Renga. team physician for the last decade, commented, "There have been more serious injuries this year than I've ever known at Deerfield." Among these were a sprained neck, a sprained ankle, and six mutilated knees.

The high points of the season were undoubtedly the victory over Sullivan and the first half romping of Evanston. But nobody held his head high when a Waukegan defender intercepted and ran 94 yards to score! Bearing the brunt of injuries and bad luck, the '83 Warriors came through learning more than just how to block or tackle.

Girls Display Guts And Stamina

The DHS Girls' Tennis Team faced a year of rebuilding and stiff competition in the 1983 season.

Coaches Geoff Gluck (Varsity) and Elaine Adler (JV) both felt this was not the best year as far as the record went, but that the girls played up to their potential, had good attitudes, and put forth a great deal of effort.

Due to injuries, some girls were moved from singles to doubles and vice versa. They adjusted to this very well, giving the coaches high hopes for every meet.

Each of the five seniors shared their four years experience and knowledge with the underclassmen. They were Diana Fliss, Pam Thorsen, Karen Helmes, Darcy Popoff, and Karen Haake. The team members supplied all the ingredients needed for a well-rounded team: guts, stamina, endurance, and willingness to improve.

Although they didn't set any records, the girls had an enjoyable season that will not be forgotten. "It's not whether you win or lose, it's how you play the game."

Runners Take Meets In Stride

The runners knew well in advance that it was going to be a tough season. Four of last year's top seven runners had graduated, and many of the younger, less experienced team members had yet to make the difficult transition to Varsity competition.

Despite these setbacks, the Warriors were a competitive force throughout the season. They had the necessary strength and talent for success. Captain Scott Karambis, Ken Hoffmann, and Rod Jette were among the better runners along the North Shore. Each of them placed in the top ten in almost every major meet. In the larger, more competitive invitationals, however, the team's major weakness became visible. Quite simply, they lacked the depth necessary to perform at the level of previous DHS champion teams.

"The program is in a rebuilding stage," said Coach Elliot. "The important thing is to use each season as a building block to a higher level of performance."

Girls Off With Gun To Beat The Clock

The Girls' Cross Country Team completed yet another successful season this year. After placing third in the Lake County Meet, the team went on to compile an 8-2 record. The strong performances of Wendy Seiden and Nancy Fowler brought the girls second place in the District Meet. Unfortunately, the team did not qualify for the State Meet. Other leaders were Missy Staubitz and Lisa Crovetti, who were aided by the consistent running of Janine Jablon.

The JV Girls' Cross Country Team, competing in only its second season, also enjoyed a successful year. The girls ran in two meets, and compiled a 1-1 record. Junior Kim Smith led the JV girls to victory, with freshmen Missy and Chrissy Noffke running consistently all season.

The girls are looking forward to another successful season in 1984, with only one senior graduating and a host of freshmen gaining continued running experience.

Players Have Something To Boot

The 1983 soccer season had its ups and downs, but Coach Van Miller's young team improved greatly as the season progressed. The team's record of three wins, nine losses, and five ties was not as good as in previous years, but the season contained many thrilling highlights. Our soccer Warriors defeated state-ranked New Trier for the first time in DHS history. Also, the team was victorious in its Homecoming match against Waukegan East. The season ended bitterly but proudly as the fighting, waterlogged squad lost in its state playoff game to Highland Park. The game, which lasted through quadruple overtime, finally ended in a shoot-out when the team was defeated 5-4.

This year's team had fine individual performances by halfbacks Dave Hetzel and Justin Greenberg, and fullback Charlie Cook. These three players were elected to the All-Conference squad. Next year's team should be better than ever, with eight returning lettermen and strong underclassmen.

For Golfers, Success Is Par For The Course

The Varsity Boys' Golf Team impressed every eye that watched its progress during the '83 season. The Varsity squad consisted of Robbie Brantman, Tom Carani, Brad Swanson, Bill Krumm, Rick Lindholm, Mike Golden, Jeff Radtke, Jeff Ploch, Jeremy Huck, David Fishbein, Todd Lanscioni, and co-captains Mike Rowles and Brett Packee. The team stunned opponents by winning the Lake County Championship, the Conference Championship, and fourth place at the State Tournament. All of this was accomplished under Head Coach Fred Dickman.

This is the second year since the inception of the DHS Girls' Golf Team. Under the coaching of Ted Repsholdt, the girls had a highly productive year. In their '83 season, they doubled their size and the number of tournaments they competed in. Moreover, they had their first qualifier for the Regional Tournament: senior Brenda Kravets. This 1983 Girls' Golf Team MVP summed up the season: "Although golf can be a very frustrating game, we all had a really good time."

Girls Adapt To Tough Competition

If awards were given to the most diligent, cooperative, and spirited 1983 Girls' Field Hockey Team, Deerfield would most certainly come out on top. The Field Hockey Team's hope and courage throughout the season could not have been greater.

A major factor in the team's success was the way they all worked together during the games. Junior Laura Kruse, team member, stated, "Everything clicked and we played as a unit. Nobody could ask for anything more." Although such handicaps as being a young team (with only three seniors) made quite a difference when faced with stiff competition, the girls learned to adapt by playing twice as hard. By enduring the long and strenuous practices held daily after school, the team became even better conditioned for the true sport of field hockey.

Though the 1983 Girls' Field Hockey Team will miss their three seniors, they are looking forward to next year with great anticipation of an excellent 1984 season.

Spikers Enjoy Banner Season

The Girls' Volleyball Team began the 1983 season with a bang and a bump. The Varsity team started out with almost no experience and was underranked. The team had lost five seniors and had only four returning Varsity players. The girls practiced together and became a sharp team. They took first in their conference!

The three seniors, Kelly "Jo" Duffy (co-captain), Beth Englehardt, and Ingrid Schwartz (co-captain), were dominant players. Kelly Duffy was voted Most Valuable Player by her teammates.

The Freshman and Junior Varsity teams both had a terrific season. The girls seem to be very promising for the coming years.

The team is looking forward to an exciting season next year, with seven returning Varsity players. DHS students supported the volleyball players with confidence, and the 1984 season is anxiously awaited with the same kind of spirit.

Girls Go To Great Lengths To Win

What is winning? Just ask any member of the 1983 Girls' Swim Team. They pulled together to perfect a team that shocked the opposition with their success.

The winning team was led by Captain Joyce Baran. She and Carol Jones were the only returning seniors. Other point scorers included Amy Melendy and Marilyn Merkle (1984 co-captains), Suzy Odom (diver), and Hillary Hageman and Kathy Frerichs. But the team's strongest assets were the freshmen!

The team was really excited when Jennifer Carani place third in the 500 yard free and ninth in the 200 yard free at State. Kris Yaukey also placed eleventh in the 100 yard backstroke, which helped DHS earn 18th at State.

JV was also very impressive this year. Junior Barb Caminer broke both the 150 yard and the 300 yard free style records. Coach Sheri Meyer was extremely proud of all the girls.

All in all, it was a very successful and fun season, because all the girls practiced hard and performed well.

Swimmers Pool Their Resources To Win

The 1983-84 DHS Boys' Swim Team came into the season with hesitation and curiosity because they had lost some fantastic swimmers from the previous year. But the past couldn't help the team, so the swimmers had to capitalize on what they had.

Coach Art Edstrom took charge from the very beginning. He stressed dedication, a positive mental attitude, and most of all, the will to succeed. The swimmers responded very well to this. There were no complaints about 6:00 a.m. practices, tougher than usual workouts, or even cold water!

The swimmers faced many tough meets: Glenbrook North, New Trier, Highland Park, and Glenbrook South. But the swimmers rallied to place 2nd in their own Turkey Relays, 2nd in the Spartan Relays, and to consistently emerge victorious in duel meets.

Scott Frerichs and Jerry Champer, the team captains, were sources of leadership for the team. The Swim Team was great this year, and it will get better in the future.

Girls Score Despite Height And Age

The 1984 Deerfield High School Girls' Basketball Team started off their season with marked potential that improved and increased until the season's end. The team consisted of two freshmen, five sophomores, and four juniors. Julie Buccola and Stefanie Knox were the only returning Varsity players. The team lacked height and Varsity experience, but the girls' speed, agility and desire to improve provided the proper balance for success. With hard work and underclass support, the girls pulled together a great team. Coach Dickman worked with the girls throughout the entire season on perfecting plays and establishing positive mental attitudes. Both are qualities necessary for a productive team. Kathy Whitson and Julie Buccola proved themselves to be capable and responsible captains. Their leadership helped the team to set and achieve their highest goals. Because all Varsity players will be returning next year, the 1985 Girls' Basketball Team holds even more potential for success. The experience and hard work gained from tough competition this year will prove to be the building block for victories in the future.

Boys Jump For And Attain New Heights

Deerfield Basketball continued its rise from obscurity as this year's high-spirited Warriors had another successful season.

Under second-year Head Coach Paul Morenz, the team placed second in a Thanksgiving tournament and third in a Winter Holiday tournament. Perhaps the biggest game of all for Coach Morenz was Deerfield's 48-42 victory over McHenry, his high school alma mater.

The Warriors were led by the offensive prowess of forward Jim Sandgren. Guards Todd Lanscioni, Steve Nordmark, and Packy Jones controlled the offense, and J.J. Johnson dominated at center. Forwards Mike Delgrosso and Chris Mau added consistency and teamwork, as well as great defense to round out the team. Juniors Gary Friedman and Dave Lindgren led the JV team, which was coached by the illustrious Arlo Straight.

An excellent program beginning at the freshman and sophomore levels guarantees many fine seasons for Deerfield in the future.

Wrestlers Grapple With Success

Wrestling is an intense sport requiring extreme concentration, a driving motivation to succeed, and perseverance. Also integral to winning is endurance, which the 1983-1984 Boys' Wrestling Team built up during vigorous practices.

Coach Battista put forth an extremely strong team that had a 6-3-0 record by Christmas. For the first time in years, the team had the depth necessary to complete successfully in dual meets. The team also flaunted its strength by placing second at the Lake County meet out of sixteen teams, and first at the Lake Forest meet out of a field of eight. Two team members distinguished themselves early in the season: Rory Rion and junior Scott Prais. Rion, a returning state qualifier, started off strong with a 21-1 record!

The Freshman Wrestling Team also came on strong. They achieved great victories over Waukegan East and Buffalo Grove. At all levels, wrestling provided a challenge to discipline the mind as well as the body.

Young Gymnasts Strengthen For Future

The '83-'84 Girls' Gymnastics Team, with the slogan "Building for the Future," ended up constructing quite a high tower. The Varsity team, consisting of one senior, one freshman, and five sophomores, anticipated a bad season, especially when the talented Maureen Roemer was injured. But the team was able to put all the pieces together to make this season an unexpected and pleasant surprise.

The JV and Freshman teams, under the coaching of Julie Gomski, also performed very well. They practiced hard every day after school, and were paid off by taking third in their conference.

DHS was represented at Sectionals by Elyse Cohen (all-around), Sandy Glaser and Elizabeth Lombardo (bars), and Gail Piersen (beam). Looking ahead, the young team has the knowledge that in two years they should be quite a skyscraper.

Icemen Cause Blizzard In Division

The Varsity and JV Hockey Warriors practiced many long hard nights at Trinity College's Bubble and Niles Ice Rink in preparation for playing in one of the most competitive divisions in the state, Metro North.

Because IHSA does not recognize hockey as an official interschoolastic sport, it is one of the most expensive activities at DHS. Although it is at a financial disadvantage, DHS Hockey attracted only the most dedicated players.

New Varsity Head Coach John Murphy, a Deerfield alumnus, improved Deerfield's team play tremendously. A league win over Lake Forest was just the beginning., Although Deerfield did not place very high in its division, the whole team came a long way from the beginning of the season.

A great asset to the Hockey Warriors was the support of many loyal fans. Often they travelled long distances to cheer the team on.

Despite a less than commendable record, the players enjoyed playing the sport they love.

CLUBS

Representing DHS Students

This year's Student Council started the year off with a bang, sponsoring Freshman Fun-Nite where 300 freshman competed, laughed, and ate their way through a very enjoyable evening, and the Kickoff Dance where THE KIND set over 400 D.H.S. students a rockin' and a rollin' to great music. Homecoming-"Warrior-fest '84" and the first-ever "Meet the Administration" were tremendous successes as well. Student Council increased its power, responsibilities, and services during 1983-1984. An increase in student participation and involvement was the payoff for a great year of dedication.

Honoring Achievement

The National Honor Society Induction Ceremony, as in years past, was a memorable evening devoted to honoring those seniors who have excelled in scholarship, service, leadership, and character. The evening included speeches by Mr. Repsholdt and Dr. Warren, songs performed by the Madrigals, the pinning of the fifty-six new members, and the announcement of the student elected nominees, Basil Danos and Paul Salm.

The Spanish Honor Society initiated fifteen new members into its ranks. All the members participated in an Ethnocenter display and in a highly successful "Churros Day" fund-raiser.

Voicing Their Opinions

The 1983-84 season was very successful for all of Deerfield's speech activities. Student Congress, Model UN and Forensics all competed with fine results.

Student Congress upheld its winning tradition, gaining more than its share of individual and team trophies. Likewise, Model UN, under the leadership of Joyce Baran, returned triumphant from both the Harvard and Lake Geneva Model UN's. For Forensics, 1984 will always be special. The team lost only one team trophy, compiling the most successful record in DHS history.

Exploring New Technology

1983-1984 was a good year for the Deerfield Aerospace Association. The club, which builds and launches model rockets, got a number of new members this year. Under the direction of Mr. Fountain, DASA had many successful launches and fundraisers. All in all, DASA was revitalized in both membership and organization this year.

This year also saw a major change in the structure of the Ham Radio Club and the Computer Club. The two joined forces for the first time to add strength to both organizations. The new joint organization gave students the opportunity to work at both computer programming and the operation of their own ham radios. Both clubs were able to develop further due to their combination in 1983-1984.

Hitting The High Notes

It has been a busy year for DHS's A Cappella Choir. Its new director, Tana Larson, had many ideas. This, combined with a group of talented singers, provided a year full of highlights. From the Pot Luck Dinner in September unit graduation, M-114 was filled with song. One especially memorable event was the combined concert with Highland Park and guest conductor, Dr. Carl St. Clair. Between performances and rehearsals, everyone learned more about music and had fun.

Treble Choir consisted of nine girls and was student-directed first semester by Sharon Carlson and second semester by Kate Scholl.

Singing Right On Key

The Deerfield High School Madrigal Singers have had a long-standing reputation of presenting fine classical music. In addition to traditional ballads and love songs, a number of contemporary madrigal numbers were added to the choir's repertoire this year. Their costumes and singing style created a remembrance of the old Renaissance period. This elite group of singers used only a pitch and their voices to create the energetic madrigals.

Swinging With The Beat

The DHS Choraliers have become well known throughout the Chicagoland area. This swing choir was comprised of talented performers who sang many popular numbers and performed dances they choreographed themselves. The sophomores, juniors, and seniors in this group worked well together to create a professional performance for audiences to watch and enjoy.

Singers, Advanced Choir performed at numerous concerts given by the Fine Arts Department and continued to build its musical skills throughout the year. The personal satisfaction and the applause made all the work worthwhile.

Creating A Live Sound

Concert Band allows sophomores, juniors, and seniors to practice and perform various styles of music from pop/rock, to marches, to traditional. An important part of the band was the unity and friendships between members. The band rehearsed for two concerts a year: the February Pops Concert and the May Spring Concert.

The stage band is a select group of individuals that rehearsed Monday nights, performing different types of music from jazz, to popular, to big band swing. They perform at concerts and at other locations such as Whitehall and the Botanical Gardens.

Performing For Fun

The Marching Warriors, directed by Al Spriester, were an exciting part of football games. Drum major Stacey Kipnis and Christina Metz led the band as they performed at all home games and parades. The hard work put forth by the musicians was well worth it; they were awarded trophies at the Pumpkin Parade in Sycamore, Illinois, Northwestern University's Homecoming Parade, and Chicago's own St. Patrick's Day Parade.

The Flag Corps and the Colorguard accompanied both bands throughout the year. They earned the Grand Champion Trophy for the best performing corps.

Publishing The Finest

Students were able to display their literary talent and artistic ability in Troubadour, the school literary and art publication. This year's magazine consisted of works ranging from photographs and poems to sketches and short stories. Troubadour members had a difficult job selecting from many outstanding submissions.

Another publication of DHS is Deerprints, the bi-weekly newspaper. Through the efforts of dedicated students and advisor, Raymond Horton, DHS distributed a newspaper of information involving the school district, faculty, and students.

Making The Yearbook

On a typical weekday, one could walk into room F104 at 5:00 P.M. and find five students buried amidst grease pencils, layout forms, and copy sheets. All staffers kept busy from September to March. Meetings became even more hectic as each of the five deadlines approached. As finalized pages accumulated and all-nighters became fewer and farther-between, the completed yearbook became less of a future goal and more of a reality. Although few appreciate the work involved in compiling a yearbook, all look forward to its arrival in May and enjoy this enduring memoir of high school years.

Enjoying The Outdoors

Silently gliding through the serene lakes of Wisconsin, tackling the turbulent currents of Michigan's rivers, rapelling down the rocky peaks of Wisconsin's mountains, exploring through the endless and exotic caverns under the ground, and skiing down the sunny, snow covered slopes are only some of the exciting experiences shared by the members of the Outdoor Education Club. The members of the club were those who chose to spend their weekends with their friends in the wilderness rather than in the shopping malls. This year's trips included cross-country skiing, climbing, rapelling and caving.

Seeking To Help Others

Guard is the "backbone" of the DHS swim organization. Every Saturday morning they were up early teaching swimming, diving and lifesaving as a volunteer community service. This year, it was not all work and no play; several early breakfasts at Harry's, judging the homecoming windows, a diving contest with the help of Ted Repsholdt Jr., and to top it off, a fantastic Christmas pool party were all enjoyable.

The dedicated girls who comprised GIMA made their presence known at DHS. Sponsoring such activities as Turnabout and a square dance added a great deal to DHS's extracurricular life.

Flipping And Twirling

Starting in November, the 24 girl Dance Club spent hours practicing turns, leaps, and kicks. Sponsor Chris Gasper, President Jill Rudolph, V.P. Audra Zuckerman, and Secretary Jodi Goodman helped the girls work together to succeed.

The Girls' Gymnastics Club practiced for two months in preparation for their big show. The girls experimented on floor, beam, bars, and vault to create exciting numbers. The girls, subdivided into a Senior and Junior Club, were directed by Sponsor Carol Myers and President Beth Weiss.

Screaming To Spur Spirit

Through cold, rainy Saturday afternoon football games and hot, stuffy basketball games, the cheerleaders produced smiles and school spirit all year long. The twelve varsity, eight sophomore and twelve freshman girls all had a great time at breakfasts and dinners before the games, at a fund-raising car wash, and at their Muscular Dystrophy Association kick-a-thon. The Warrior fans were responsive to the cheerleaders' enthusiasm; twenty-five home stands were often packed to cheer DHS on to victory. By decorating lockers and halls, the girls also kept spirit within the school at a record high.

Kicking High For Victory

With their high kicks and bright smiles, the DHS pom pon girls pommed their way through yet another year. The sixteen girl squad was unique this year because it was comprised of an overwhelmingly large number of seniors — twelve in all. As a result, the squad was more unified than usual and worked well together. The girls performed their routines during the halftimes at football and basketball games. In addition to the traditional "Stripper" routine, the girls added to the excitement of the pep rally by dressing up as the Blues Brothers and dancing to "Gimme Some Lovin."

Senior year initiated a special feeling in each member of the Class of '84. We were all united in a single bond, and no matter how much energy the other classes formed to break our spirit, the bond did not break, but grew stronger. We screamed in harmony to lead ourselves to victory in the Spirit Jug contest. We even demonstrated our holiday spirit with the making of a giant Class of '84 Christmas card.

Seniors became school volunteers in aiding freshmen, as well as achieving top positions in extracurricular activities. Because of senior spirit and involvement, the high school fence will undoubtedly read at the end of the year — "The senior Class of 1984 is great!"

JUNIORSJUNIORSJUNIORSJUNIO

Unfortunately, many of us will remember PSAT's, SAT's, ACT's and other such miserable experiences as the essence of junior year. If these can be pushed into the backs of our memories, we will realize what an important time junior year was.

Most of us were able to cruise around town on wheels. We won the class float contest, again. And we came so close to winning the Spirit Jug that we've got it aced for next year.

We mustn't forget those intellectually stimulating classes we took. We experienced everything from U.S. History to the monstrous junior term paper. Best of all, we had the knowledge that next year we will all be seniors!

We are just about halfway through our entire high school career. In the fall of '82 we came to DHS with many fears and apprehensions. For most of us, these fears turned out to be nothing. We even found ourselves laughing at how ridiculous they were.

We left our freshman year with many great memories and high hopes for the upcoming years. In the fall of '83, we came back to DHS with much more confidence in ourselves. Our sophomore year is almost over now, and we've built up many more memories. The first two years at DHS have been great ones, and with a class as spirited and smart as ours, there is no way that the next two years could be anything but fantastic!

One class at one end of the school and another at the other, lettered hallways, I.D.'s, free periods, and study halls were new things we all had to face as freshmen. After the first day, when we had all walked into a few senior classes, none of us were quite sure we'd make it through the year. With so many activities and organizations to join, who knew where to begin and where to end? Homecoming was certainly something exciting and new! The Freshman Frat was a noble idea. And it really didn't matter when our parents had to drive us places. Even with all of the hassles of being "little froshies," we all decided that the Class of '87 was here to stay!

OMINISTRATIONADMINISTRATION

The year 1984 is most often associated with drastic change and upheavel. At DHS, this change manifested itself in the retirement of Principal Theodor Repsholdt.

As an administrator, teacher and coach, Theodor Repsholdt served the students of District 113 for thirty years. Beginning at HPHS as a core curriculum assistant and football coach, Repsholdt soon became a department chairman. After a series of positions at DHS, Repsholdt eventually was named Principal in 1978. Despite this promotion, Repsholdt remained in direct contact with the student body. He taught courses varying from English to U.S. History. One history student commented, "Mr. Repsholdt was one of the most inspiring teachers I've ever had." He also founded and coached the successful girls' golf team.

The U.S. Constitution speaks of a more perfect union. Under the leadership of Principal Theodor Repsholdt, DHS has become a more perfect high school.
